It's ALRIGHT
to be WHITE!

YOU have no need to feel ashamed of your skin or colour.
YOU have no need to feel guilt for the original sin of your birth.
YOU have no need to say 'sorry' because you are 'different'.
BE PROUD OF YOUR RACE - YOUR CULTURE - YOUR RESISTANCE.
White People Awake - Save the White Race!

Join the CREATIVITY ALLIANCE

WHITE supremacists are targeting Penrith in a recruitment campaign for a group that first emerged in the US.

The Creativity Alliance has distributed flyers at Glenmore Park and Kingswood and posted a banner on the Kingswood Rd M4 overpass recently.

A Glenmore Park resident contacted the Press about the group, which has a Penrith postal address.

The resident, who asked for his name to be withheld, said he was “disgusted” by the group’s message.

“I saw the flyers and thought they were junk mail,” the 18-year-old said.

“Then I had a good look at one and thought, “What’s the point?’. ”

He said the contents of the flyers didn’t have a place in Penrith.

After receiving about 10 in the past few months, he saw the banner while driving on the M4.

“I remembered the flyers when I saw the flag,” he said.

“I ripped it down and ditched it in a bush, but someone put it back up.”

On the group’s website, its NSW co-ordinator is listed as Chris Smith.

The Press contacted him by email and he responded to questions.

Mr Smith said the group hoped to educate white Australians about “what is really going on in the world”.

“(We are) helping them see through the everyday hypocrisy of a morally bereft society ... rather than relying on a biased media and a corrupt government telling them what, how and where to think,” he wrote. “It is time white people awaken to reality and realise that doing what is best for the white race is best for themselves.”

Asked how many members the group had, Mr Smith refused to comment.

that seem so intent on celebrating the death of a white Australia which is its self some of the vilest vindictive racial hatred. How did they get to a point where they can parade their hate and get it funded by the very people they celebrate's cultural and ethnic suicide?

This 'creativity alliance' is what you must reconcile and I saw nothing in your group details which even remotely addresses these lunatics and fanatics who are overwhelmingly white. Stand up for our people in a sensible rational manner.

No, your kind is far from Australian. Your kind is the type that want to claim world status as humans with everyone loving one another in a big group hug. I'd say fair enough and go for it if it was true; but what you would really like to see is promotion of other races at the expense of the White race. What good is an Obama if he's an incompetent president other than he appeals to other non-Whites and sycophantic weirdo Whites who would rather see an incompetent Black man in charge than a competent White man (if there is such a politician Black or White). @ndy, if that is really who you are, it is your ideology that has been dismantled. Your ideology has caused nothing but war world wide for the last fifty years. Even the idea of Nationalism has become bereft as the world separates itself into racial and religious groupings. Yet, the old Marxist ideology still sways the minds of the intellectually redundant in an attempt to manipulate the past present and future. Why don't you give up trying to manipulate the minds of Australians. You're not very good at it. At least I - and this is the big difference - expect people to go and look for themselves, while you just mock & abuse.

Are you frustrated? It must be frustrating to have an ideology to which you have publically committed dismantled before your eyes. We can forgive you for having believed it but. After all, these movements wouldn't have followers if they didn't appeal to a targeted demographic.

Even still, I have not known anyone to jump at communist shadows like that since 1972. It should serve to highlight to everyone who sees this, the extent of paranoia typical of groups such as yours. Also, it doesn't do you any favours to start a comment with "Blah, Blah, Blah" and finish with "grow up"

You know my 'kind'?

Blah, blah, blah, Everything you say shows that you are a red. I personally don't care if you studied pottery craft or hair dressing, I know your type: Every problem is socio-economic in origin until it becomes Whites in a lower socio-economic scale vs non-Whites in the same circumstances. That's when your kind claim that even the poorest of the poor Whites live in some kind of privileged fantasy land where "Lordy, Lordy, Lordy," the only non-White that can make it is an Uncle Tom that is a traitor to his own kind. Kindly step off your red hobby horse and enter the real world. Hopefully when you eventually do grow up you'll learn a thing or two.

You are deluded. As opposed to studying Marxism, I studied scientific process and can as a consequence deduce the difference between correlation and cause/effect, something you might want to look into. I bring this up, because isn't it true that the asian/lebanese/communist/gay/aboriginal gangs you are in fear of are also from the low income bracket? It's because of marginalizing views of people like your hero Arthur Calwell that the low socioeconomic band is also disproportionately made up of indigenous Australians and migrants. If you put white people into the same circumstances that white people have created for migrants and the same thing happens. They look to dealing drugs and other crime to escape poverty. White people aren't immune to that, take a look at melbourne gangland killings as a case study.

Josh, it is your multicultural society that is causing the formation of competing collectives as you call them (did you pick up the big words from Papa Joe in one of your Young Marxist meetings at university?). Australia currently has a dictatorship of the minority controlling this country; something I am sure you are very proud to be a part of. Your multiracial collectives are taking over entire regions with competing gangs of non-Whites battling it out in turf wars to determine who controls the region, only stopping to unite to fight their common enemy: "Whitey." Then it's back to the machete and machine gun wielding turf wars, with your kind screaming "White Supremacist!" at anybody - including the police doing their job - who tries to put a stop it. You and your kind with your Marxist indoctrinated radicalism are destroying a once great nation with your belligerence against anything you see as the prerogative of evil Whitey. Considering the goals you have in mind, you should be pleased that many areas of Australia are in a virtual race war with Whites refusing to enter the non-White collectives for fear of being murdered just for being White. Another "Skip" bites the dust, eh?

Spare us the demagogy, Popus maximus Grand Dragon Cailen or whatever title you have wrangled for yourself in your little cult of western Sydney racists. You are repeating yourself yet again with the same cookie cut defense. You don't just believe in race, any idiot of the street could see a Slav is different looking to an Indian, and thus acknowledges the existence of different races. Why does it matter though? Because you are convinced our race is better, and don't try to deny it.

Australia is a society of individuals. Why do you insist on encouraging us to form competing collectives? All you have to offer your members is a state of paranoid belligerency where no conflict exists.

To the rest of you: We Creators are realistic and believe in race just like every other race in the world does. We are no different from the Aboriginal, the Asian or any of the many Middle Easterner/Arab/Jewish types. Yes, that makes us racist because we are realists; but that does not make us what we are not. You can keep your Adolf and other insinuations because they do not relate to us - Facebook or otherwise. They are just the knee jerk terminology that affect your university influenced, no brained followers and get them fired up. For the average Australian, they no longer work. White Australians are sick and tired of being told every two seconds by your kind that we are racist simply because we disagree with this or that policy or perhaps because a non-White or even a self declared "anti-racist" couldn't get his own way so he decided it was best that White Australians took the brunt of his or her hatred to satisfy their/your own petty hatred. It is time you the so-called anti-racist was dragged into the limelight to reveal exactly what you are. Oh yes, High School dropouts? You don't know or understand

Is there a problem being white ? , while quite content with my own tint , I think white is quite an attractive colour. Of course there are many who spend hours in the sun risking Skin Cancers to change the tinge of their skin. This is not due to any physical defect but a mental aberration which must , on occasions verge on self hate. Of course its alright to be white,or black or brindle.

Karen: "its automatically slammed as being racist."

How come on the CA website it says

"We are racists because we believe in Race. We are anti-Semites because we oppose the Jews."

"The ners, undoubtedly, are at the very bottom of the ladder, not far above monkeys and chimpanzees"

-The use of the term "mud race" multiple times

-that Ching Chong comment doesn't help your case also, did this Mr. Smith graduate high school or is he a degenerate low life who probably couldn't read a book if his life depended on it. Yup the white race is superior (in case you are too dumb to tell, I am being sarcastic).

I am white, and guess what? I am ashamed of most of the shit that we've done. We've raped and killed the aboriginals here, in the U.S and in Canada (to mention just a few). Keep being proud. Because of our race tons of cultures and their own beliefs have been slaughtered. You're a horrible person, you are the scum of the earth. There is no pride in what you do.

Karen, in a few years time when your little racist children are kicked out of their school for preaching this rubbish, and can't make enough money to feed them or you, I hope you think of me as you starve.

How can anyone take seriously a bogan who complains of being branded a racist on one hand, then uses the phrase "ching chong" on the other? U mad? I see that you are. @ jb: You claim there is nothing of substance and that's all rhetoric, yet I severely doubt you have ever considered saying the same about Aboriginal rights, Gay rights or to the Iman at the Lakemba Mosque, have you? No. In your big wide multicultural world, that would be considered "racist" and "homophobic" of you. The problem with your kind is that you have been cowed by government, media and education systems to feel ashamed of being White, and that is precisely what the flier is meant to address. "It's ALRIGHT to be WHITE! YOU have no need to feel ashamed of your race or culture. YOU have no need to feel guilt for the imagined sins of your forefathers." The refusal of the right to have pride in oneself, race and heritage when applied to non-Whites is considered to be another method of genocide, why is that not the case when applied to White people of European heritage? Why is the cultural and racial assimilation, and eventually supersedence of White culture and White ethnic homogeneity by imported races and cultures who often not only want to alter Australia, but openly profess their hatred for White people? You brother, are in self denial of your own future genocide.

May I ask a few simple questions?

Out of all of the races on the face of this planet, which race would you say is the most beautiful, unique, intelligent, creative, and precious to you?

If you seen two little kids on a corner of a street, one black and the other White, and they both needed jackets to wear, and you had one, which kid would you give the jacket to?

These two questions are honest questions asked by a teen, however, some would use fallacious and ostentatious attacks against we without even answering which proves how much of ignorant bigots they really are.

The CA websites are: <http://www.creativityalliance.com> along with <http://www.rahowadirectory.com>

Fair enough to have pride in your race and celebrate it. The only issue is though, on the flyer that is being shown with this report, it clearly states 'Save the white race'. Now that, right there, is the issue, not that you have pride, but the fact that it implying that there are factors out there demonising 'whites'. And what exactly does the white race need saving from?

Karen

I think its about time someone stood up to the political correctness that exists in Australian culture. Its socially acceptable for a non-white person to have 'pride' in their culture and identity but when a white person does its automatically slammed as being racist.

Chris Smith

Creativity is a legally recognised religion for White people, by White people. It objects to amongst other things, Christianity, multiculturalism and Marxism. Creators do not believe in gods or devils, an after-life, heaven or hell. Creators do believe in maintaining a balance with nature while keeping a sound mind, in a sound body, in a sound society, in a sound environment.

I also said:

Does that make me a racist? Only as racist as the Jews, Aboriginals, Arabs and others of that ilk that follow the exact same principles.

Does that make me a hater? According to society it does. Anyone who is White and proud of his own people is naturally a "hater." While anyone that is not White, has an intense dislike for those not of his race while at the same time professes a passionate love for his own race, religion and (often former) nation is acceptable to the point of communal servility. No smear words are ever attached to the non-White, bringing about the typical knee-jerk reaction that every White person who expresses pride in his or her heritage is subjected to.
